Accountants

Whether you are a CPA, forensic accountant, auditor, tax preparer, or valuator, finding accurate information is vital. From tracking down someone or their assets, working with account receivables or risk management, and contributing to fraud prevention – finding up-to-date data can be time-consuming, costly, and confusing. By accessing our extensive, highly-detailed database, accounting professionals can save countless hours by instantly retrieving the exact information they need.

Skip Tracers

Finding a person who doesn't want to be found is difficult under even the best circumstances. Debtors regularly change their whereabouts to make themselves nearly impossible to locate. Looking for someone means finding their contacts, connections, addresses, phone numbers, and emails; this means endlessly sifting through subpar data to find the details you need. InfoTracer Business collects all of that data in one place, allowing you to provide your rapid and targeted service to your clients. When it comes to skip tracing, time is of the essence; by using our search tech, you can save time and find individuals faster than ever before.

Private Investigators

The foundation of every investigation is research; when it comes to private investigation, the more data points you have, the higher chance you can close the case. While nothing can replace the talent, intuition, and analytical effort of professionals, the search for useful data takes a disproportionate amount of an investigator's time and effort. Why waste your precious time going through thousands of court records, search reports, and public databases? With our specialized search engine, we can provide the information you need to find almost any individual fast.

Financial Institutions

Whether you are working in risk management, fraud prevention, or any other part of the financial sector, information access is vital. Instead of wasting precious time searching, checking, and vetting data yourself, why not utilize our expertise to make the process smoother? We eliminate the costly and time-consuming task of manual data search, allowing you to quickly conduct proper due diligence and give your clients the best service possible.

Insurance Companies

Insurance companies need to worry about a wide range of tasks: identifying sales opportunities for insurance plans, tracking claims to investigate potentially fraudulent requests, choosing risk management strategies, all of these require as much data and context as you can possibly get. With the support of specialized search tools, you can add value to your work while increasing overall efficiency.

Law Firms

Our goal is to provide law firms with the best data possible so they can provide better service to their clients. Whether you are a criminal defense lawyer, family lawyer, immigration lawyer, real estate attorney, or tax lawyer, InfoTracer Business Solutions gives you the tools to conduct proper due diligence. Our solutions give you the ability to verify individual identities, check individual assets, vet witnesses, and anything else you need to help your client win their case.

Healthcare Providers

Investigating fraud committed by patients, pharmacists, payers, vendors or suppliers, requires up-to-date and curated information. You need to find addresses, phone numbers, emails, connections and contacts, a process which can take up a massive amount of time. Instead of manually going through different search reports and thousands of databases, InfoTracer's dedicated search engine can provide all this data in one place. We help healthcare investigators resolve issues quickly, allowing them to concentrate more on what's important: better patient care.

Lodging

As a hotel, motel, or B&B operator, your search needs vary depending on the current season and occupancy levels. That's why we provide a variety of search products that can be used for any possible scenario. Our reports can help you verify the identity of problematic guests, learn more about competing businesses, or get information on a specific individual. That way, you can keep yourself, your staff, and your other guests safe.

Real Estate Professionals

Real estate is a fickle business that comes with many ups and downs. Home buyers and sellers require a lot of attention, and even one misstep can cost a real estate agent a sale. In these instances, knowing a property inside and out can make all the difference in the world. If you can add information about a potential buyer or seller into your repertoire, it can be the extra attention your customers demand. Don't waste any valuable time trying to find accurate data sources when you have a data partner that can give you accurate information whenever you need it. Partner with InfoTracer Business Solutions.

Identity Verification

All businesses rely on data, and that data dictates the type of work they do and who they work with. You need accurate information to verify the identity of potential business partners and vendors, learn more about your customers, verify addresses, and more. Instead of fumbling through databases that are no longer current or are missing vital information, turn to a database that is nationwide, accurate, and updated daily. Turn to InfoTracer Business Solutions.
